Detailed Action

Response to Amendment

1. This communication is in response to amendment filed on March 17, 2005. The amendment has been considered and entered. Claims 16-19 and 53-56 are pending in the application.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on March 17, 2005 was filed after the mailing date of the on September 16, 2004. The submission is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 16-19, and 53-56 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shaw et al "Shaw" (U.S. Patent No. 6,684,219) in view of Wong (U.S. Patent No. 6,115,690) as set forth in the last office action mailed on September 16, 2005.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed on March 17, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive because:

Applicant applicants asserted that Shaw fails to teach the claimed invention. Applicants further supported their assertion by arguing that Shah does not perform a search of a selected component database using metadata attributes with the component and dynamically create a search menu using the metadata attributes associated with a selected component. In response, the examiner respectfully disagrees with applicants' argument because Wong does teach the features which applicants are argued. For example, Wong teaches the step of presenting a search menu to a user so that the user can perform a search on the search menu using parameters for a desired product (col. 13, lines 13-52). In other words, the limitations that applicants are arguing are being taught. Incorporating the teachings of Wong into the disclosures of Shaw would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art with the motivation to allow the user to perform searches on a product and to obtain a quote on a product.

Furthermore, In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicants' invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., a selected object and allows the user to enter new search) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
